Statement of Need

This conference will review the latest new therapies and information presented at the annual American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) meeting, highlighting novel approaches to treating patients with cancer. The course will inform healthcare professionals on the most novel treatments and drug indications and allow them to apply that learning in daily practice. Rapidly changing advances in oncology create the need for this continuing education course. The ASCO meeting is the world's largest oncology meeting, and thus features practice-changing abstracts, studies, and review lectures. However, because of its enormity, it is impossible for one individual to get around to all of the important lectures, scientific symposia, etc. Having a regional review course will ensure that physicians, PAs, nurse practitioners, nurses and pharmacists in the greater Milwaukee and Wisconsin areas will be able to hear a summary of the most important and practice-changing studies, lectures, and learnings from the ASCO meeting.

14th Annual Highlights of ASCO

Program Overview

This program is designed for physicians, PAs, nurse practitioners, registered nurses, medical staff and pharmacists in Wisconsin and neighboring states wanting to learn about the latest updates in cancer treatment. The conference is designed to review the current clinical updates from the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) annual meeting. The conference will educate regarding practice-changing findings presented at ASCO 2021.

Objectives

At the end of this educational activity, learners should be able to:

- Review highlights of the advances in clinical and translational research presented at the 2021 ASCO® annual meeting
- Identify emerging trends and strategies designed to improve the quality of symptom management and survivorship care
- Evaluate tools and resources in specific areas of cancer management that can be used to achieve effective cancer care delivery and improve the patient experience
